

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

BRANDON KEEN,
Plaintiff,

v.

JEFF LYNCH, et al.,
Defendants.

No. 2:20-cv-00589-CKD-P

ORDER

Plaintiff is a state prisoner proceeding pro se who seeks relief pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. This proceeding was referred to this court by Local Rule 302 pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1).

Plaintiff requests leave to proceed in forma pauperis. As plaintiff has submitted a declaration that makes the showing required by 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a), his request will be granted. Plaintiff is required to pay the statutory filing fee of $350.00 for this action. 28 U.S.C. §§ 1914(a), 1915(b)(1). By separate order, the court will direct the appropriate agency to collect the initial partial filing fee from plaintiff's trust account and forward it to the Clerk of the Court. Thereafter, plaintiff will be obligated for monthly payments of twenty percent of the preceding month's income credited to plaintiff's prison trust account. These payments will be forwarded by the appropriate agency to the Clerk of the Court each time the amount in plaintiff's account exceeds $10.00, until the filing fee is paid in full. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(2).

I. Screening Standard

The court is required to screen complaints brought by prisoners seeking relief against a governmental entity or officer or employee of a governmental entity. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(a). The court must dismiss a complaint or portion thereof if the prisoner has raised claims that are legally “frivolous or malicious,” that fail to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, or that seek monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b)(1),(2).

A claim is legally frivolous when it lacks an arguable basis either in law or in fact. Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 325 (1989); Franklin v. Murphy, 745 F.2d 1221, 1227-28 (9th Cir. 1984). The court may, therefore, dismiss a claim as frivolous where it is based on an indisputably meritless legal theory or where the factual contentions are clearly baseless. Neitzke, 490 U.S. at 327. The critical inquiry is whether a constitutional claim, however inartfully pleaded, has an arguable legal and factual basis. See Jackson v. Arizona, 885 F.2d 639, 640 (9th Cir. 1989); Franklin, 745 F.2d at 1227.

In order to avoid dismissal for failure to state a claim a complaint must contain more than “naked assertions,” “labels and conclusions” or “a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action.” Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555-557 (2007). In other words, “[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements do not suffice.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009). Furthermore, a claim upon which the court can grant relief has facial plausibility. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570. “A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678. When considering whether a complaint states a claim upon which relief can be granted, the court must accept the allegations as true, Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 93-94 (2007), and construe the complaint in the light most favorable to the plaintiff, see Scheuer v. Rhodes, 416 U.S. 232, 236 (1974).

II. Allegations in the Complaint

At all times relevant to the allegations in the complaint, plaintiff was a mentally ill inmate at California State Prison-Sacramento (“CSP-Sac”). He alleges that he became suicidal on

1 August 13, 2019 and informed the officers on the Third Watch on his cell block that he needed
 2 help. ECF No. 1 at 4. Due to his mental illness, he intentionally cut himself and was left
 3 bleeding for half an hour. Plaintiff alleges that the officers in his cell block and the Warden of 4 CSP-Sac were deliberately indifferent to his serious medical needs by ignoring his request for 5 help once he became suicidal. ECF No. 1 at 4. When plaintiff finally received medical attention,
 6 he was transferred to U.C. Davis Medical Center due to his injuries.

7 The only named defendant in this action is Jeff Lynch, the Warden of CSP-Sac. The 8 remaining defendants are identified by their duty station and not their name. ECF No. 1 at 2.

9 By way of relief, plaintiff seeks compensatory damages for his pain and suffering, the 10 removal of the individual officers from working with mentally ill inmates, and a formal apology
 11 from the Warden. ECF No. 1 at 7.

12 III. Legal Standards

13 Denial or delay of medical care for a prisoner's serious medical needs may constitute a 14 violation of the prisoner's Eighth and Fourteenth Amendment rights. Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S.
 15 97, 104-05 (1976). An individual is liable for such a violation only when the individual is 16 deliberately indifferent to a prisoner's serious medical needs. Id.; see Jett v. Penner, 439 F.3d
 17 1091, 1096 (9th Cir. 2006); Hallett v. Morgan, 296 F.3d 732, 744 (9th Cir. 2002); Lopez v.
 18 Smith, 203 F.3d 1122, 1131-32 (9th Cir. 2000).

19 In the Ninth Circuit, the test for deliberate indifference consists of two parts. Jett, 439
 20 F.3d at 1096, citing McGuckin v. Smith, 974 F.2d 1050 (9th Cir. 1991), overruled on other
 21 grounds by WMX Techs., Inc. v. Miller, 104 F.3d 1133 (9th Cir. 1997) (en banc). First, the 22 plaintiff must show a "serious medical need" by demonstrating that "failure to treat a prisoner's
 23 condition could result in further significant injury or the 'unnecessary and wanton infliction of 24 pain.'" Id., citing Estelle, 429 U.S. at 104. "Examples of serious medical needs include '[t]he 25 existence of an injury that a reasonable doctor or patient would find important and worthy of 26 comment or treatment; the presence of a medical condition that significantly affects an 27 individual's daily activities; or the existence of chronic and substantial pain.'" Lopez, 203 F. 3d
 28 at 1131-1132, citing McGuckin, 974 F.2d at 1059-60.

Second, the plaintiff must show the defendant's response to the need was deliberately indifferent. Jett, 439 F.3d at 1096. This second prong is satisfied by showing (a) a purposeful act or failure to respond to a prisoner's pain or possible medical need and (b) harm caused by the indifference. Id. Under this standard, the prison official must not only "be aware of facts from which the inference could be drawn that a substantial risk of serious harm exists," but that person "must also draw the inference." Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 837 (1994). This "subjective approach" focuses only "on what a defendant's mental attitude actually was." Id. at 839. A showing of merely negligent medical care is not enough to establish a constitutional violation. Frost v. Agnos, 152 F.3d 1124, 1130 (9th Cir. 1998), citing Estelle, 429 U.S. at 105-106. A difference of opinion about the proper course of treatment is not deliberate indifference, nor does a dispute between a prisoner and prison officials over the necessity for or extent of medical treatment amount to a constitutional violation. See, e.g., Toguchi v. Chung, 391 F.3d 1051, 1058 (9th Cir. 2004); Sanchez v. Vild, 891 F.2d 240, 242 (9th Cir. 1989). Furthermore, mere delay of medical treatment, "without more, is insufficient to state a claim of deliberate medical indifference." Shapley v. Nev. Bd. of State Prison Comm'rs, 766 F.2d 404, 407 (9th Cir. 1985). Where a prisoner alleges that delay of medical treatment evinces deliberate indifference, the prisoner must show that the delay caused "significant harm and that Defendants should have known this to be the case." Hallett, 296 F.3d at 745-46; see McGuckin, 974 F.2d at 1060.

Supervisory personnel are generally not liable under § 1983 for the actions of their employees under a theory of respondeat superior and, therefore, when a named defendant holds a supervisory position, the causal link between him and the claimed constitutional violation must be specifically alleged. See Fayle v. Stapley, 607 F.2d 858, 862 (9th Cir. 1979); Mosher v. Saalfeld, 589 F.2d 438, 441 (9th Cir. 1978). "A defendant may be held liable as a supervisor under § 1983 'if there exists either (1) his or her personal involvement in the constitutional deprivation, or (2) a sufficient causal connection between the supervisor's wrongful conduct and the constitutional violation.'" Starr v. Baca, 652 F.3d 1202, 1207 (9th Cir. 2011) (quoting Hansen v. Black, 885 F.2d 642, 646 (9th Cir. 1989)).

Additionally, "[a]s a general rule, the use of 'John Doe' to identify a defendant is not

1 favored.” Gillespie v. Civiletti, 629 F.2d 637, 642 (9th Cir. 1980). John Doe defendants cannot
 2 be served with process until identified by their real names. See Mosier v. California Dept. of 3 Corrections & Rehabilitation, 2012 WL 2577524, at *3 (E.D. Cal. 2012), Robinett v. Correctional
 4 Training Facility, 2010 WL 2867696, at *4 (N.D. Cal. 2010). The burden remains on the plaintiff
 5 to discover the identity of these Doe defendants and to amend the complaint with their names
 6 once discovered.

7 IV. Analysis

8 The court has reviewed plaintiff’s complaint and finds that it fails to state a claim upon
 9 which relief can be granted under federal law. First, plaintiff fails to allege any personal
 10 involvement or a sufficient causal connection between the Warden’s conduct and the alleged 11 constitutional violations. The remaining allegations are against unknown defendants. The court
 12 cannot order service of process on unknown defendants. For all these reasons, plaintiff’s
 13 complaint must be dismissed. The court will, however, grant leave to file an amended complaint.

14 If plaintiff chooses to amend the complaint, plaintiff must demonstrate how the conditions
 15 complained of have resulted in a deprivation of plaintiff’s constitutional rights. See Ellis v.
 16 Cassidy, 625 F.2d 227 (9th Cir. 1980). Also, in his amended complaint, plaintiff must allege in 17 specific terms how each named defendant is involved. There can be no liability under 42 U.S.C.
 18 § 1983 unless there is some affirmative link or connection between a defendant’s actions and the 19 claimed deprivation. Rizzo v. Goode, 423 U.S. 362 (1976). Furthermore, vague and conclusory
 20 allegations of official participation in civil rights violations are not sufficient. Ivey v. Board of 21 Regents, 673 F.2d 266, 268 (9th Cir. 1982).

22 Finally, plaintiff is informed that the court cannot refer to a prior pleading in order to
 23 make plaintiff’s amended complaint complete. Local Rule 220 requires that an amended
 24 complaint be complete in itself without reference to any prior pleading. This is because, as a
 25 general rule, an amended complaint supersedes the original complaint. See Loux v. Rhay, 375
 26 F.2d 55, 57 (9th Cir. 1967). Once plaintiff files an amended complaint, the original pleading no
 27 longer serves any function in the case. Therefore, in an amended complaint, as in an original 28 complaint, each claim and the involvement of each defendant must be sufficiently alleged.

V. Plain Language Summary for Pro Se Party

The following information is meant to explain this order in plain English and is not intended as legal advice.

The court has reviewed the allegations in your complaint and concluded that you do not link any of the alleged constitutional violations to any named defendant in this action. The remaining defendants are John Does and cannot be properly served until their names are identified. These problems may be fixable so you are being given the chance to file an amended complaint within 30 days from the date of this order if you so choose.

In accordance with the above, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that:

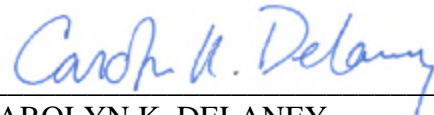

1. Plaintiff's request for leave to proceed in forma pauperis (ECF No. 2) is granted.

2. Plaintiff is obligated to pay the statutory filing fee of $350.00 for this action. All fees shall be collected and paid in accordance with this court's order to the Director of the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation filed concurrently herewith.

3. Plaintiff's complaint is dismissed.

4. Plaintiff is granted thirty days from the date of service of this order to file an amended complaint that complies with the requirements of the Civil Rights Act, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and the Local Rules of Practice. The amended complaint must bear the docket number assigned this case and must be labeled "Amended Complaint." Failure to file an amended complaint in accordance with this order will result in a recommendation that this action be dismissed.
